"I do believe when people die their goodness, the good things they've done, they melt into your likeness and you become a better person for it."
- Billy Joe Shaver